Guidelines to Enforce Integration

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announces today new guidelines for the desegregation of public schools, hospitals and mental facilities that reportedly will spell out a new get-tough policy to speed up compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Sources said the guidelines will tighten the freedom-of-choice school desegregation procedures, call for the complete elimination of discrimination toward Negro teachers, and request that hospitals and nursing homes report on their anti-discrimination progress.

Details of the new guidelines were to be revealed by Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service and Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, at a news conference.

Compliance with the anti-discrimination provisions of Title V of the Civil Rights Act is necessary before federal financial assistance can be given. The new policy reportedly also will include much stiffer requirements on the reporting of progress towards desegregation.

The guidelines are expected to speed up school desegregation in the South by restricting the freedom-of-choice procedures under which school districts could base desegregation plans on geographic attendance areas or a combination of geographic areas and freedom of choice.

The proposed changes will request school districts to include some provision for the transportation of students living in neighborhoods with de facto segregation to schools in other districts.

The new requirements on faculty desegregation and assignment are described as calling generally for complete elimination of discrimination and the assignment of both Negro and white teachers to the same school when there are faculty members of both races in a district, regardless of the composition of the student body.

On the health side, the Public Health Service will send a questionnaire this week to hospitals and nursing homes asking them to report on their anti-discrimination compliance.

Under the medicare program, hospitals and nursing homes must sign nondiscrimination pledges before they will be approved to receive payments. The program becomes effective July 1.

State Aiming at Business' Muscle Men

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, in a drive to strengthen the state's economic growth, is taking aim at the muscle men of business, the heavy industries.

The commission is beginning to specialize in the search for the growth industries, Col. Carl C. Hinkle Jr., AIDC director, said today.

Specialized pursuit of these industries is the natural step for the commission after the rapid growth in the number of smaller industries in the state during the past few years, Hinkle said.

We are working primarily on growth industries," he said. "We're trying to specialize on these by contacting them and showing what Arkansas has got to offer."

Growth industries pay higher wages, expand faster and get bigger shares of national business. These industries are the aluminum manufacturing plants, other metals industries, chemicals, paper mills and the like.

"We made a concentrated effort to go after some paper mills," Hinkle said. "We've had several show a definite interest in Arkansas and we hope to have some new ones for the state before the end of the year."

With the paper mills, and other big industries, Arkansas' chief drawing cards are two old stand-bys from the small industry era:

—A labor supply that costs less than it would in northern states.

—An abundance of such raw materials as water and timber. We're looking specially for industries that can make use of what is already here, or can produce something that can be used here," Hinkle said.

This would help meet one of the commission's goals—keeping as much capital at work in Arkansas as possible.

The drive for big industry has the AIDC checking on new avenues of advertising and financing.

"We're exploring the possibility of economic studies throughout the state," Hinkle said. "There are industries that probably would be best suited to one particular area. We want to know which industries would go where."

"As to financing," Hinkle said, "We've been investigating possible new methods of obtaining capital, perhaps a guarantee state loan, which some states have."

"There's nothing definite, yet," he said. "We're merely looking into the possibility of these things."

Hinkle said the commission also is working toward new means of getting national attention for Arkansas, probably through a film the commission produced for out-of-state industrial prospects. "We're thinking of visual presentation, on television or motion pictures," he said. "We want to put it on a national basis to better show Arkansas' industrial development program."

The success of the program so far has reduced the level of unemployment in Arkansas to one of the lowest in the nation. This has created no hazard to added industrial development, Hinkle said.

"We like to see our people advance in jobs, get higher wages, become more skilled, because this helps the whole state," Hinkle said. "But we're happy to see more sophisticated industries because we still have plenty of people to take care of most any type of plant."

Hinkle said there are trainable people in some remote areas of the state where no plants are located.

Even if the entire labor pool becomes employed, this still may pose no problem, Hinkle said.

"We've found that Arkansas people will come back home if jobs are available," he said.

Mansfield Helps Quiet Criticism

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quiet Irishman with a velvet glove has helped calm some of the Senate criticism of President Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, has demonstrated in the week since he returned from a recuperative vacation in Florida that soft words diminish wrath, if they do not always turn it away.

The second day after the tall, lean Montana senator climbed back in the leadership saddle, the Senate passed overwhelmingly a $4.8-billion military authorization bill that had been before it since Feb. 14 while members wrangled over Viet Nam.

Mansfield, with characteristic modesty, takes no personal credit for this. He says the members were just tired of squabbling and ready to act.

Within hours after his return the Democratic leader helped extricate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey from a sticky situation brought about by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's invitation for him to testify before it on his nine-nation tour of Asia.

No vice president can afford to let a committee order him around, and Humphrey was determined not to be put on the stand at a public hearing.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana already had traded verbal blows with Chairman J. W. Fulbright in the Foreign Relations Committee's televised hearings. Relations between them were strained.

But Mansfield prevailed on Fulbright to join with him in inviting Humphrey to sit down with senators and talk informally with them. The session turned out to be a friendly one with nobody going away mad.

Now Mansfield is drawing on his seemingly inexhaustible supply of patience to move the Senate toward a vote on a $415-million foreign aid authorization which includes $275 million in economic aid for Viet Nam.

The Democratic leader occupies a unique position in standing apart from the noisy Senate uproar over Viet Nam. Quietly, he had opposed the resumption of North Viet Nam bombing, thus siding with Fulbright.

For all their recent chatting at a White House party, the President and Fulbright are not what could be called chummy at this point.

In contrast, Johnson and Mansfield continue to maintain close relations. Mansfield had his reservations about steps Johnson has taken and communicated them to Johnson. But his attitude has been that "we're in this thing too deep" to carp at the President publicly.

Long Siege of Sneezing Unabated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — June Clark's long siege of sneezing is as bad as ever, and today she was back in a hospital in Miami.

The 17-year-old high school sophomore was sent back after she developed bladder trouble and could not keep food down. June has been sneezing about once every waking minute for two months. The sneezing gives her intense stomach, chest and nose pains.

Her doctors are baffled. Treatments ranging from hypnosis to infra-red exposure have failed.

Happenings in World on Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crash of a jetliner in Japan and the worst blizzard in recorded U.S. history brought grief to scores of American homes over the weekend.

A British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 with 124 persons aboard broke apart in the freakish air over Mt. Fuji Saturday and crashed. BOAC officials said 90 of those aboard were Americans. Of these, 75 were on an Asian tour sponsored by the Thermo King Corp., of Minneapolis, Minn., a refrigeration equipment company.

It was Japan's second major air crash within 19 hours and the third in a month. The three crashes killed 321.

At Miami, Fla., an Eastern Air Lines Boeing 727 jet with 101 aboard belly landed safely Saturday after its landing gear had stuck. No one was injured.

The blizzard raged in Minnesota and the Dakotas claiming at least 16 lives in storm-related incidents.

The storm abated Saturday. Cities and towns were isolated in heavy snow whipped by winds up to 100 miles per hour. The record snow included 35 inches at Moberge, S.D.

Weekend Viet Nam developments included:

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a top adviser to President Johnson and former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says the key North Vietnamese supply harbor of Haiphong should be closed by U.S. mines. In Honolulu, Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, U.S. Pacific military commander, said mining the harbor would be "a good idea."

Brig. Gen. Ellis W. Williamson, who commanded the 173rd Airborne Brigade in Viet Nam, told President Johnson the enemy looks like a fighter groggy in the fifth round of a 10-round bout.

The commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, praised U.S. troops and said they had "destroyed more than four regular Viet Cong battalions in the past few days."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said there is present danger of war with Red China. Fulbright, a critic of U.S. policy on Viet Nam, also said he was skeptical of reports that the war is turning in favor of the United States. He announced that his committee will hold Senate hearings on Red China.

Other weekend news highlights:

In Miami, Fla., blonde Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were found innocent of the 1964 slaying of her husband, financier Jacques Mossler. After first announcing a deadlock, the jury reached the verdict after more than 16 hours of deliberation.

Mrs. Mossler, who says she is 40, and Powers, 29, said later at a news conference they had no plans to wed.

President Johnson directed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to combat summertime unrest among young people by helping them find 1,750,000 jobs.

Violence flared again in the Dominican Republic as a U.S. paratrooper was wounded with six others in downtown Santo Domingo. A member of the armed guard protecting ex-President Juan Bosch was shot to death near the revolutionary party leader's home.

He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city.—Proverbs 16:32.

Sanders Irked, Wants a Czar Over the PGA

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders, chagrined at disqualification that he says cost him $25,000, demanded today that the affairs of the Professional Golfers Association be put in the hands of a $70,000-a-year czar.

"We are a 14-million business run by people making $17,000 a year," he said. "If you pay $17,000, you get a $17,000 man. We need a big-business man to run the show."

The 32-year-old Sanders, from Ojai, Calif., made no attempt to hide the bitterness he felt from his ouster Saturday for failure to sign his scorecard after he had shot four strokes into the lead of the $65,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

Removal of Sanders — still a center of controversy — sent Gary Brewer Jr. of Dallas, Texas, to the front of the pro golf pack, and Brewer responded with a third-round 67 Sunday that put him six strokes ahead at 201 — almost out of reach.

Brewer's 54-hole score, with the final round set today, was 201, 15 under par for the 6,380-yard, par 72 Pensacola Country Club course.

Tied at 207 was the quartet of Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C.; Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.; Dick Hart of Hinsdale, Ill.; and 24-year-old Randy Glover of Florence, S.C.

Glover had the best record of the day — a 66, with nine birdies. Boros and Rudolph shot 69 and Hart 70.

Four more were tied at 208. They were Jacky Cupit of Dallas; Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla.; Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio; and Bruce Devlin of Australia.

Before taking off for Texas, Sanders leveled a blast at the PGA for what he called loose handling of tournament procedures.

"It's true, pulled a blunder by not signing my card, but how big is that?" Sanders said. "I checked my card three times to make sure I had the right score. It seems we should be responsible only for the final score."

The colorful former University of Florida ace, who was seeking his third title here, said he was not given consideration for the circumstances surrounding his ouster.

"I had played the back nine first and finished on No. 9," he said. "There was no official tent or table to go to hand in my card. Somebody grabbed it. People were yelling, photographers were snapping pictures, kids were asking for autographs, and they were telling me I should rush to the press room."

"Under these conditions, how could anybody keep a sane head on his shoulders?"

The disqualification, Sanders said, punctured the finest start he had ever made on the golf tour.

Favorites Rated High Above Field

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The top two teams in the Arkansas Associated Press high school basketball poll are favorites in the Class AAA and AA senior boys state tournaments which opened here today.

Wildcats Meet Their Match in Tennessee

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
And then there were none. Like the gold nickel cigar songs that rhyme moon and June, and Edsel autos, college basketball's last two undefeated teams faded quietly away over the weekend.

But Adolph Rupp and Don Haskins expect to have Kentucky and Texas Western back making plenty of noise in the NCAA playoffs which open tonight.

Both the Wildcats, ranked No. 1, and the second-rated Miners had 23-game winning streaks snapped Saturday and both Rupp and Haskins, while disappointed, hoped the defeats would teach their teams lessons.

Kentucky backed into Rupp's 22nd Southeastern Conference crown when Vanderbilt dropped a 92-90 decision to Mississippi State while the Wildcats were being upset by Tennessee 69-62.

Kentucky completes its regular schedule with a meaningless SEC game against Tulane tonight. Rupp has until Friday to repair his club's confidence for the Wildcats' NCAA playoff debut against the winner of tonight's Dayton-Miami of Ohio battle — one of two Midwesterners scheduled for Kent.

Ohio, Chicago Loyola takes on Western Kentucky in the other. Haskins had less time to regroup Texas Western. The Miners dropped a 74-72 decision at Seattle Saturday night and come right back tonight against Oklahoma City in the Midwest Regional at Wichita. Houston plays Colorado State in the other Midwest game.

In tonight's other NCAA playoff doubleheader, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia takes on Providence and Davidson meets Rhode Island in the Eastern Regionals at Blacksburg, Va.

Meanwhile, the nation's other big post-season tournament, New York's National Invitation, completed its 14-team field with the addition of New York University, San Francisco, Villanova and Wichita. The NIT opens Thursday.

In other weekend action, Duke captured the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, overcoming North Carolina's freeze to win 21-20 Friday night and then whipping North Carolina State 71-66. The Blue Devils take on tonight's St. Joseph's Providence winner Friday.

Michigan clinched its third straight Big Ten crown by downing Northwestern 105-92 behind Cazzie Russell's 48 points. The Wolverines, who reached the NCAA finals last season, open their tournament play against the Chicago Loyola-Western Kentucky winner.

Kansas clinched a tie for the Big Eight title by whipping Kansas State 68-55 and can wrap up the conference crown and an NCAA berth against Southern Methodist next Friday by defeating Colorado tonight.

NYU and Villanova earned their NIT berths by beating St. John's of New York and DePaul, both of whom had already accepted bids. The Violets whipped the Redmen 67-58 for a 15-9 season's record. Villanova won its 10th in the last 11 by nipping DePaul 76-73.

San Francisco finished with a 91-65 victory over Pepperdine and a 21-5 record for second place in the West Coast Athletic Conference. Wichita, an 81-79 double overtime winner over Tulsa, finished tied for second with Bradley in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Is Baseball on Defense Now?

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The view from the 20th floor is a pleasant one consisting of packed stadium, bases-loaded home runs in the bottom of the ninth, chubby kids munching more hot dogs and television viewers charting each pitch breathlessly.

The office on the 20th floor overlooking Fifth Avenue belongs to the commissioner of baseball, Gen. William Eckert.

At the end of a long hallway is a small office where the phone seems to ring at 30-second intervals.

The office belongs to Lee MacPhail, a pleasant, smiling gentleman who left the dual role of president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles to be Eckert's assistant.

It was baseball's best move of the year, MacPhail knows the game. Eckert knows airplanes.

And MacPhail, who knows baseball, says the game is not losing its popularity even if Louis Harris and Associates disagree.

Louis Harris and Associates takes polls, and is, therefore, responsible for judging public opinion and conducting foreign policy.

It also takes private surveys with one of its clients being the National Football League. Surprisingly, the NFL always seems to do well.

Like the survey which showed the nation's sports fans now prefer football (41 per cent) to baseball (38 per cent).

"But remember," an NFL official said, "it didn't say pro football, just 'football.'"

And four blocks away in the baseball office, Lee MacPhail was saying, "We're glad football is doing well. I think we're all football fans in here, too. But remember, that poll was taken three days after the World Series was over."

"Pro football," he continued, "is a little like Avis... trying harder."

"Last year baseball had its best attendance, with the Los Angeles Dodgers leading the way."

"I'm not saying we don't have problems, though. We have a lot to be done. We have committees working on various measures to make the game more attractive to the fans."

"We're trying to cut down on the 'dead time' in baseball. But there are conflicts involved here about what is good for winning and what is good for entertainment. The first consideration has to be winning."

The key to the whole battle between baseball and football may be the word "entertainment."

Sonny Werblin, whose back ground is entertainment, not football, has made the New York Jets a success with his "star theory," meaning Joe Namath. "The public," Werblin insists, "wants stars."

In baseball, the stars are dwindling. Mickey Mantle has a year or two left. Willie Mays is 34. Eddie Mathews 35. Warren Spahn is gone, so are Ted Williams and Stan Musial.

"I admit," MacPhail says, "that we need the stars. We'll get them. Baseball is getting its share of the best athletes. It has an attraction for the youngster — good salary, good working conditions."

"Today's major leaguers on the whole, have more ability than the players in the 1930s. Player for player the modern ball clubs are better, but they may not have the big names — for a lot of reasons."

"Maybe it was because in the '30s there was nothing but baseball..."

Pro football existed in the 1930s, too, but television and its instant heroes didn't.

As the song says, "That's entertainment."

Goalie Knows Records Can Be Broken

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Gump Worsley, the Montreal Canadiens' 36-year-old goalie, is pro enough to know that records are made to be broken, but he wouldn't have any of Bobby Hull's antics when the chips were down Sunday night.

Worsley blanked Hull and the Chicago Black Hawks 1-0 to help lift the Canadiens into a commanding three-point lead in the National Hockey League with the race heading for the finish line.

"It was a big win and he had a lot to do with it," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake as he pointed to Worsley.

The Canadiens won the pivotal game on a goal by Claude Larose at 10:05 of the second period, but the victory really belonged to Worsley, who turned back 33 Chicago shots including five by Hull, who was seeking a record 51st goal.

"You don't want him to break a record against you unless you win the game," said the Gumper. "I know that. He scored his 50th against me to tie the record in 1962 when was with New York."

"If Hull would have scored tonight in a 1-0 game, then that would be something else. But he didn't," sighed Worsley. "You always try your best. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't."

The Hawks, who have now been shut out on successive nights by Toronto and Montreal, don't feel that Hull's quest for the record has anything to do with the team's play.

"I'd say the guys were bending backwards to get me the 50th goal," said Hull. "But not anymore. We're just trying to win. Well, we lost two straight and a lot of factors enter into that but not my going for the record."

In other games, Toronto beat Boston 5-3 and Detroit and New York played a 1-1 tie.

Greenbrier, White Hall State Winners

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Class A and B senior boys state basketball tournament followed the form chart with pre-tournament favorites White Hall and Greenbrier rolling to the championships.

White Hall, riding the soft southpaw shooting of Bob McKenzie, ramblined past Fort Smith St. Anne's 66-43 Saturday night and won the Class A title.

Greenbrier, posting its 39th victory in 40 games, repeated as Class B champion by slipping past small, scrappy Oil Trough 70-60.

"This was our best game and we saved it for last," said White Hall Coach Lynwood Cathey, who announced acceptance of an assistant basketball coaching job at Arkansas following the triumph.

St. Anne's Coach Bill Bock said, "I said earlier if we got beat I'd still be proud and that's the way I feel."

McKenzie poured in 26 points, including 19 in the first half as White Hall raced to a 40-20 lead. The Bulldogs turned the game into a rout by scoring six points within 18 seconds to take a 16-8 lead late in the first period.

Larry Gresham tallied 16 points and Donald Wayne added 10 for White Hall, which completed a 36-2 season.

Greg Davis tallied 13 points for St. Anne's, 26-7 for the year. It was the first appearance for St. Anne's in the state tournament. The school played its basketball in a Boy's Club league until seven years ago.

Greenbrier Coach Duoye Winningham said his Panthers saved their best shooting performance for the final game.

"I was particularly pleased with Tommy Watson, but for that matter the whole team did a great job," Winningham said.

Top Hurlers Are Bringing Big Troubles

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What would you have if you had Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Juan Marichal, Jim Maloney and Jim Grant?

You'd have the best pitching staff in baseball, that's what you'd have.

But that's not what the Los Angeles Dodgers, the San Francisco Giants, and Cincinnati Reds and the Minnesota Twins have. They have trouble.

And to erase their trouble, it would take, collectively, $1,175,000.

The five pitchers — who with Maury Wills, Tony Oliva and Frank Robinson comprise a celebrated list of holdouts — are asking that much to pitch for their respective teams this year.

And until they get what they want, instead of heading for spring training sites in Florida and Arizona, they are remaining in Studio City, Calif.; Hidden Hills, Calif.; the Dominican Republic, Fresno, Calif., and Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Koufax and Drysdale, who won 49 games during the season and three in the World Series for the Dodgers, each want a three-year contract worth $500,000.

Marichal, the Giants' 22-game winner, seeks $75,000; Maloney, who recorded two no-hitters among his 20 Cincinnati victories, wants $50,000 and a Minnesota's Grant, a 21-game winner, asks $50,000 or maybe slightly less.

Neither pitchers nor their owners apparently have given much ground lately.

Last year the five hurlers won a total of 112 games and lost only 49. They struck out nearly one batter an inning while walking only two a game. Their average earned ran average of 1.53.

Wills, Oliva and Robinson also put together some good records last year. Wills hit 286 and Oliva batted .314 playing in

Battle for Sports Prominence

York Jets a success with his "star theory," meaning Joe Namath. "The public," Werblin insists, "wants stars."

In baseball, the stars are dwindling. Mickey Mantle has a year or two left. Willie Mays is 34. Eddie Mathews 35. Warren Spahn is gone, so are Ted Williams and Stan Musial.

"I admit," MacPhail says, "that we need the stars. We'll get them. Baseball is getting its share of the best athletes. It has an attraction for the youngster — good salary, good working conditions."

"Today's major leaguers on the whole, have more ability than the players in the 1930s. Player for player the modern ball clubs are better, but they may not have the big names — for a lot of reasons."

"Maybe it was because in the '30s there was nothing but baseball..."

Pro football existed in the 1930s, too, but television and its instant heroes didn't.

As the song says, "That's entertainment."

'THEY CAN'T BUDGE US'

Fight Site Probably Will Be Toronto

TORONTO (A) — This Canadian city will be the site of the Cassius Clay - Ernie Terrell heavyweight title fight — probably, not definitely.

The fight — an in-and-out-of-town affair since Clay sounded off after being reclassified 1-A in the draft — will be held in Maple Leaf Gardens, an official of the arena said Sunday, with reservations.

"The fight will take place in our building," Harold Ballard, executive vice president of the Gardens said, "unless there is a disapproval from the Ontario government. But we have semi-approval."

And the fight promoters said they have selected a site in Canada, which they would disclose today.

"We want to let it cook overnight so we can be sure we have the site," Mike Malitz of Main Bout, Inc., which holds the closed-circuit television rights for the bout, said in New York.

Ontario Athletic Commissioner Merv McKenzie said all that remained in order to hold the fight in Toronto was for the commission to approve details of the contract. He said that although approval is not definite, he felt the details would be looked after.

He was told in a telephone conversation to Chicago that Illinois rejected the fight "because the promotion was not in proper order."

Sites which have refused the fight include New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Montreal, the Montreal suburb of Verdun, Louisville, Ky., and the State of Maine.

Clay's appeal of his reclassification from 1-Y, an exempt category, to 1-A, which makes him eligible for military service, is scheduled for a hearing March 17 in Louisville.

Joint and Separate Returns

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Almost without exception a married couple will reduce their income tax by filing a joint return rather than separate returns.

But since there are situations where separate returns are advantageous, a safe rule of thumb is to try both methods. Then use the one that produces the smaller tax payment or greater refund.

Here are some typical cases where saving results from the use of separate returns.

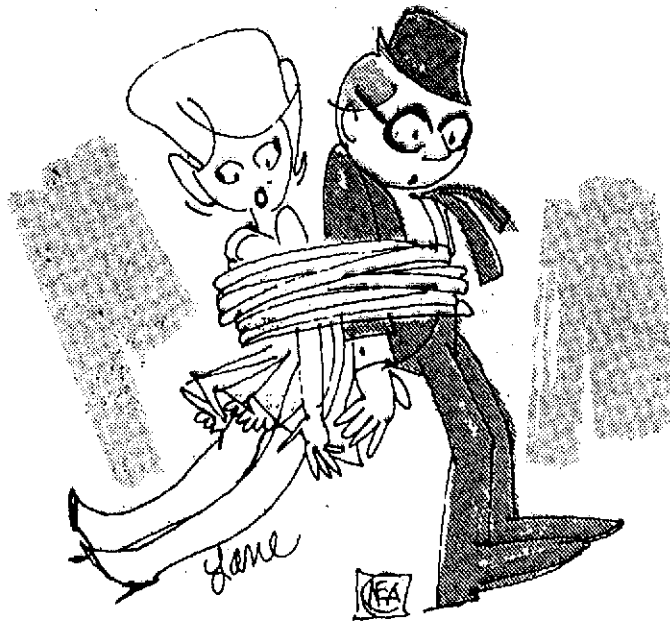

- A young husband and wife each has a small income and standard deductions. The combined tax on separate returns frequently is a few dollars less than the tax called for on a joint return.

- A husband and wife each has income and one of them has considerable medical expense for the year. Since such expenses for taxpayers under 65 are deductible only after they exceed 3 per cent of income, a greater deduction is possible on the separate return.

- A husband and a wife each had a sizable capital loss for the year. On a joint return they would be limited to a $1,000 net capital loss. On separate returns each might be eligible for the $1,000 loss.

Or, one of the mates could have a capital gain and the other a capital loss for the year. On separate returns the gain could receive favored capital gains treatment (only one-half taxable if it was a long-term transaction) and the full $1,000 net capital loss could be claimed on the other return.

There is one cardinal rule in the filing of separate returns: Each spouse must itemize his individual deductions or each must use the 10 per cent standard or the minimum standard deduction. Of course, the standard deduction is limited to $500 on separate returns of married persons.

A joint return may be filed even though only one of the spouses had taxable income for the year. Whenever a joint return is filed it MUST include ALL the income of each of the spouses.

Furthermore, a joint return may be filed only by a husband and wife. A widow may not file a joint return with her wage-earning son. And income of your dependent children is NEVER added to your income on your tax return.

Where one of the marriage partners died during the tax year the surviving spouse may file a joint return in the year of death and claim a full year's exemption credit for the deceased spouse. For two years thereafter, if the surviving spouse has not remarried and is maintaining a home for a dependent child he is entitled to compute his tax using Tax Schedule II, but including his own income, exemptions and deductions.

In those two years after death no exemption credit may be taken for the deceased person. Nevertheless, a reduced tax will result because of the income-splitting features and lower rates in Tax Schedule II.

A TIP TO NEWLYWEDS: Perhaps the husband and wife who were married toward the end of the year may have been college students for most of the year and were supported by their parents. Before filing a joint return each should check with his or her dad. If the bride and groom file separate returns, the parents of each may still be entitled to claim the son or daughter as a dependent for the year. But as soon as the newlyweds file a joint return they close the door to that possibility.

The Case Lincoln Lost

On a fateful autumn day in Indiana, in the fourth year of the Civil War, Union soldiers entered the home of Lambdin P. Milligan and placed him under arrest.

The soldiers were acting on orders of President Abraham Lincoln, their commander in chief. Milligan, suspected of aiding the Confederate cause, was speedily found guilty by a military court and sentenced to be hung.

But nine days before he was to die, Milligan—invoicing the ancient writ of habeas corpus—demanded his freedom. He claimed that, as a civilian, he could not lawfully be punished by a military court.

How far may military power reach in wartime? For a nation dedicated to individual liberty, the issue was a wrenching one.

Lincoln himself argued that, with war convulsing the country, he was justified in taking drastic means to crush disloyalty on the home front.

But there were weighty points too on the other side of the argument. Not only was Milligan a civilian, but he had been arrested in Indiana—where, at the time, no hostilities were under way.

Most important, Indiana's civil courts were still open for business, ready, willing, and able to hear the charges against Milligan if given the chance.

On April 3, 1866, 18 months after Milligan's arrest, the United States Supreme Court set him free. Holding that the military trial was unlawful, the Court thereby marked out historic limits beyond which martial authority must not go.

Oddly enough, this decision condemning Lincoln's action was written by his own devoted friend, Justice David Davis. Lincoln, by then was already dead. Yet it is easy to imagine that if still alive, with the awful pressures of war behind him, he might have applauded the judge's words.

"The Constitution is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and peace, and covers with the shield of its protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances."

A Northern editor had this comment:

"Above the might of the sword, the majesty of the law is thus raised supreme."

It is easy to imagine Lincoln himself saying amen.

Medicare Insurance 'Bargains' Outlined by Social Security Chief

Millions of Americans are signing up for Medicare, says Robert M. Ball, left, chief of the Social Security Commission, who expects that close to 90 per cent of the 19 million eligibles will be enrolled by March 31. Commissioner Ball is shown during an exclusive interview with John Troan, author of the book, "What You've Got Coming from Medicare and Social Security."

WASHINGTON — After months of foot-dragging, Americans are flocking to sign up for the bargain-rate medical insurance offered by Medicare.

Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball says almost 14 million persons past 65 have now enrolled for this supplementary insurance, designed chiefly to cover doctor bills.

And by the end of the initial enrollment period next month, Ball said Social Security should reach its goal of signing up 80 to 90 per cent of the 19 million eligibles—between 15.2 million and 17.1 million persons.

Following is an exclusive question-answer interview on this subject with the chief of the Social Security Administration:

Q—Commissioner Ball, how many persons have signed up for the supplementary Medicare insurance?

A—So far about 13.5 million, over 70 per cent of those eligible. And the first enrollment period doesn't end until March 31, so I'm confident that by the end of next month we'll have 80 to 90 per cent of the 19 million eligibles enrolled.

Q—Who is eligible for this insurance?

A—Just about everybody over 65 is eligible regardless of whether or not he ever worked under Social Security and whether or not he intends to retire.

Q—How many have turned down this insurance?

A—Something over a million, or six per cent of the total eligible. But many of those who have said no are changing their minds.

Q—What reasons do they give for turning it down?

A—Many of those who give a reason say they can't afford it.

Q—How much does the supplementary insurance cost?

A—$3 a month for each individual past 65. The Government matches this premium, which means you're getting $6 worth of protection for $3.

Q—How is the premium to be paid?

A—If a person who is signed up is drawing a monthly Social Security, Railroad Retirement or Civil Service retirement check, the amount will be deducted automatically from the check. Otherwise, the person will be billed by Social Security at regular intervals.

Q—What other reasons do people give for refusing the insurance?

A—Many have said—and this is generally a mistaken reason—that they don't want the supplementary insurance because they already have such coverage either through Blue Shield or Blue Cross or a commercial firm.

Q—But will the "Blues" and commercial companies continue such coverage after Medicare takes effect?

A—That's just it. Most of them have made it clear they aren't going to duplicate for the aged what Medicare offers, and most are urging their policyholders to sign up. Some already have announced how they are going to change their coverage once Medicare begins.

Q—That's next July 1?

A—Yes. That's when all Medicare benefits except those pertaining to skilled nursing homes go into effect. The nursing-home benefits will not be available until Jan. 1, 1967.

Q—Now Medicare is divided into two parts—

A—That's right: "Plan A," or basic hospital insurance, and "Plan B," or supplementary medical insurance.

Q—Plan A will—

A—In general, it will offer up to 90 days of care in a hospital for each spell of illness with the patient paying the first $40 plus $10 for each day after the first 60. It also will offer home-health benefits—in a patient's own home—following hospitalization.

WIN AT BRIDGE

It Was Skillful Loss Anyhow

Here is another bridge problem. This one occurred in actual play. East was Jack Ehrenbach of California and South was an expert whose name will not appear.

The problem is to figure out how South managed to go down at his six spade contract without revoking, pulling the wrong card or making any error usually associated with bad bridge players.

The answer is that South managed to figure out a line of play that only an expert and a very unlucky one could think of.

Of course, Jack who has been playing bridge forever or possibly longer, helped South to his defeat.

West opened his ace of hearts and Jack dropped the king. South looked hard at Jack and then went up with dummy's queen of trumps. It was just possible that West really held nine hearts and South was not going to lose the first two tricks.

Jack followed to the second heart and now South had a real problem. He gave Jack some dirty looks, thought awhile and finally came to the conclusion that Jack held all three missing trumps.

After coming to this momentous conclusion it was the work of just a few more seconds for South to get set. He led dummy's seven of spades. Jack played low and South let it ride. West produced the jack and that was all.

Don't write to tell us how silly South was. We are in complete agreement but want to point out once more that only an expert could have been so silly.

Q—The bidding has been:

Of course, Jack who has been playing bridge forever or possibly longer, helped South to his defeat.

West opened his ace of hearts and Jack dropped the king. South looked hard at Jack and then went up with dummy's queen of trumps. It was just possible that West really held nine hearts and South was not going to lose the first two tricks.

Jack followed to the second heart and now South had a real problem. He gave Jack some dirty looks, thought awhile and finally came to the conclusion that Jack held all three missing trumps.

After coming to this momentous conclusion it was the work of just a few more seconds for South to get set. He led dummy's seven of spades. Jack played low and South let it ride. West produced the jack and that was all.

Don't write to tell us how silly South was. We are in complete agreement but want to point out once more that only an expert could have been so silly.

WIN AT BRIDGE

It Was Skillful Loss Anyhow

Here is another bridge problem. This one occurred in actual play. East was Jack Ehrenbach of California and South was an expert whose name will not appear.

The problem is to figure out how South managed to go down at his six spade contract without revoking, pulling the wrong card or making any error usually associated with bad bridge players.

The answer is that South managed to figure out a line of play that only an expert and a very unlucky one could think of.

Of course, Jack who has been playing bridge forever or possibly longer, helped South to his defeat.

One-third of each year's wheat crop in the United States goes into making of 15.5 billion pounds of bread. Ninety per cent of this is white enriched bread. The commercial baking industry in the United States, which ranks seventh in all manufacturing industries and second among food industries, produces and sells about 40 million loaves of bread a day. More than half is bought in grocery stores.

THE WELL CHILD In the News

Oil Sprays for Rashes Can Be Health Hazard
BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The use of oily nose drops was discontinued several years ago because, if any of the oil got into a child's or an adult's lungs, it might cause pneumonia. Oil sprays for diaper rash, now enjoying some popularity, have been found to be just as hazardous. They are put up in aerosol cans. Although the spray is not aimed at the baby's nose, a cloud of fine oil particles can easily be inhaled when the spray is used. A severe attack of pneumonia may result.

Q—Are nosebleeds occurring three or four times a week common in children? Could they be caused by hot dry indoor air in winter? What will prevent them?

A—Nosebleeds are common in children of school age. Hot dry air favors the formation of hard dry crusts in the nose and nosebleeds are often caused by efforts to dislodge them. Your child must be cautioned not to pick his nose. Smearing a very small amount of petrolatum jelly in each nostril night and morning should keep these crusts from forming and should go a long way toward preventing the nosebleeds.

Q—X rays revealed that my 14-year-old son has Osgood-Schlatter's disease. Is there any cure for this?

A—Osgood-Schlatter's disease, like osteochondritis of the hip (Legg-Perthes' disease), is a benign self-limited disease that has its onset in children between 5 and 15 years of age. It is an inflammation of the bone and cartilage in the bone's growth center. The cause is unknown but when the period of bony growth ceases, the disease clears up. In the meantime it is important to provide a brace or other support to prevent weight bearing by the involved joint.

Q—A year ago I had a 7-pound boy who was healthy at birth. He lived only 38 hours. An autopsy revealed that he had a severe hepatitis due to an acute inflammation of his left adrenal and aspiration of meconium. What does this mean and could it happen to another child if I had one?

A—Hepatitis and inflammation of the adrenal are very rare at such an early age. The aspiration inhalation of meconium, intestinal debris or the fetus is also rare. When it occurs it causes pneumonia rather than hepatitis. The chances of a child's contracting the disease are less than one in a million.

Yellowstone National Park extends into three states—Northwestern Wyoming, southwestern Montana and northern Idaho.

'Teen-Age' Laugh War Debate in Its Proper Place

The sly laughter of 'teen-agers' for adults lies behind this story told me last night by Bill Routon. It's about the time he and the late C. Cook, Jr., appeared in the Hope High School senior play.

The opening scene called for Cook to be smoking a cigar — not as scandalous as you might think, according to Routon, because the boys were smoking anyway.

But in the audience was the boy's grandmother, the late Roxie Cook. And when the curtain went up disclosing C. J., smoking that big black cigar, Routon exclaimed in her famous gravel voice:

"I declare, I wish you'd see what they're making that poor child do!"

Anti-war demonstrations in the streets by half-baked kids who can barely read and write are stuff and nonsense—but the current debate over Viet Nam in the United States Senate is another matter. That's the proper place, and the public interest is truly served by all the debaters as they bring out the issues and the supporting facts, regardless of your personal opinion as to which side is right.

Our Senator Bill Fulbright has convictions and courage, and insists on a full-scale debate even while conceding the great majority of Americans feel that our fight to defend Southeast Asia is necessary and just. I honor Senator Fulbright for forcing the debate, but disagree with his conclusion — that you can trade amicably with the Chinese Communist whose unbroken record down through the years has been to use truces and treaties to their own aggressive ends.

This is the view of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, our former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff — Gen. Taylor going so far as to advocate the immediate blockade of all North Viet Nam ports to cut off the supply lines which keep the Viet Cong guerrillas going.

The crux of the matter was put bluntly yesterday by Secretary Rusk when he said: "If Red China or Russia find that the United States commitment in Viet Nam is meaningless then we are facing great dangers, dangers far beyond those now on the horizon."

His meaning is obvious. Somewhere aggression has to be stopped. If we give ground in Viet Nam then the Red tide will inevitably engulf Australia and the southwestern Pacific.

Before Viet Nam we had a bitter lesson in Korea — when President Truman made the tragic mistake of ignoring General Douglas MacArthur's considered judgment that we should cross the Yalu River and hit the Chinese supply lines at their source, and followed instead the advice of compromising politicians back home to set up a "truce."

With Korea's example before us we established a firm, long-range policy in Viet Nam. Of course there is risk of a larger war with China. But the alternative is even more grim — to see Australia and the Pacific islands fall into Communist slavery simply because we refused to do our duty and abide by our solemn commitment as a world power.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today key sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The high tribunal upheld the power of Congress under the Constitution's 15th Amendment to suspend state literacy tests and similar voting qualifications, and to authorize the attorney general to appoint federal examiners to register qualified voters in various sections of the country.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, in the majority opinion, dismissed a Deep South attack on constitutionality of the act.

Arkansas Killed in Viet Nam

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Lt. Harry Marlin Godwin, 27, of El Dorado has been killed in action in Viet Nam, his mother, Mrs. Louise Godwin, said Sunday.

Mrs. Mossler, Nephew Are Acquitted

By ARTHUR EVERETT
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blonde Candace Mossler set out today, as she put it, to mother a brood of adored children and to "pick up the pieces" of a $33-million business.

She was asked in the presence of her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, following their acquittal Sunday in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionaire husband: "Mrs. Mossler, will you and Mel Powers be married?"

In a little girl voice, normal for her but tinged with sadness with a trace of vexation, Mrs. Mossler with her children behind her, replied at a news conference:

"We don't have any intentions in that direction."

Union between aunt and nephew is generally forbidden by American law, although it would be possible outside the United States. Florida law prohibits marriage between blood aunt and nephew.

Less than three hours earlier, Mrs. Mossler and Powers had been acquitted by an all-male jury of the brutal slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 69. He was gray, slender, and, in the words of the state, stood in the way of an incestuous love affair between his wife and her nephew. The defendants, if convicted, could have gone to the electric chair.

Behind Mrs. Mossler and Powers at the unusual news conference in a downtown Miami hotel were Mrs. Mossler's two blonde grown children by her first marriage, and the four attractive youngsters she and Jacques Mossler adopted during their marriage.

Most of them figured in the eventual disposal of Mossler's $33-million banking and loan business.

"By July the entire estate should be distributed," said Mrs. Mossler's chief attorney, Clyde Woody.

Mrs. Mossler, sensitive about her age, places it at 40. Powers is 29.

Travelogue Shown at Rotary Meet

The Hope Rotary Club took a trip on the "High Road to Yosemite" by means of a colored film shown by Bob Whitelast Friday when the club had its weekly meeting at the Town and Country.

Before the travelogue, the prelude, Dr. Lester Sizemore, told of an interesting letter received from a French Rotary Club President. He had written that the Hope Rotary Club and the French one were "twins" in many respects and listed the ways.

Thell Joplin was welcomed as a new member of the local club. Guests were Jim Lockhart, a newcomer to Hope, and the Rev. Jerry King of Camden.

Probe Seeks Cause of Disasters

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
TOKYO (AP) — Aviation experts from four nations began intensive investigations today in the wake of three successive airline disasters in the Tokyo area that killed 321 persons.

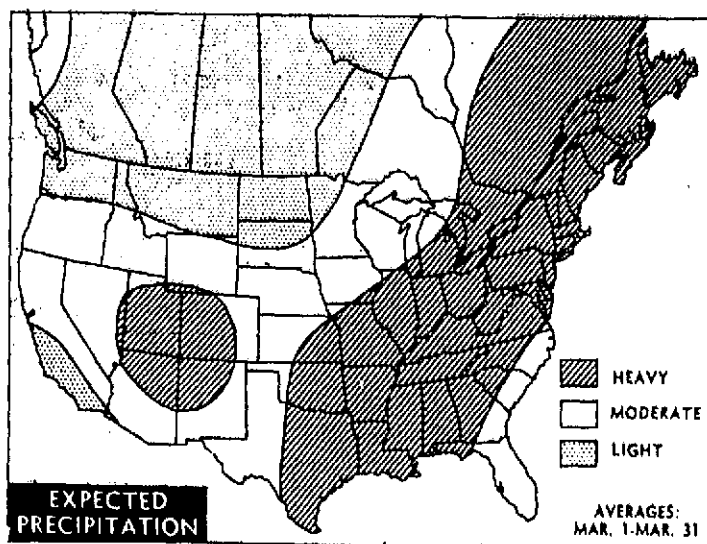

Japanese officials also launched urgent studies of aviation safety in Japan and re-bowed calls for a new airport.

Two crashes Saturday and Sunday killed 98 Americans, including 75 in a tour group aboard a British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 bound for Hong Kong.

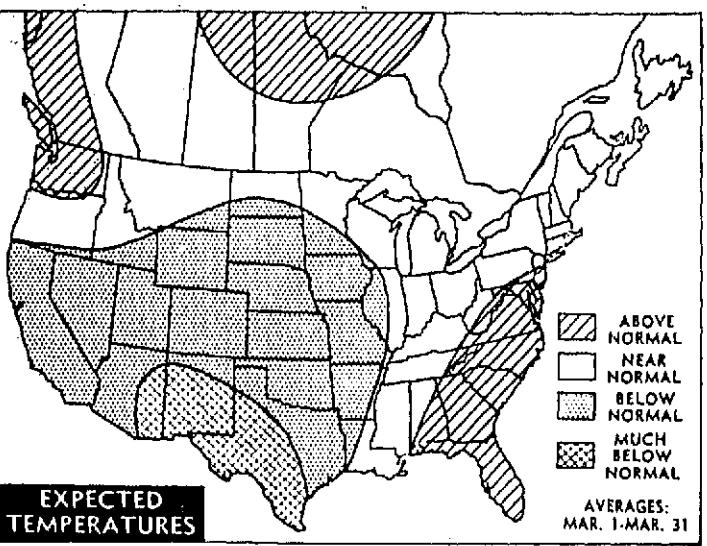

Heavy rains on the lower slopes of Mt. Fuji, site of the BOAC crash Saturday that killed all 124 aboard, hampered studies being made of the twisted wreckage.

Pieces of the Canadian Pacific Airlines Douglas DC8 jet that crashed Friday in a fog at the Tokyo airport were being picked up by more experts. That crash killed 64 of the 72 persons aboard.

Mixed March

Heavy precipitation is the outlook from central Texas to the Great Lakes and east while the spotty picture for the rest of the country ranges from below to above normal.

The Mississippi Valley is the dividing line for March temperatures, with normal to above marks prevailing to the east while most of the nation to the west is in for colder than usual weather.

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecast of average temperature, precipitation through March 31.

Relief Near for Blizzard Hit States

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Road-plowing crews and rescue missions began bringing relief today to blizzard-battered parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota. The toll of deaths stood at 16. Ranchers were counting up a heavy loss of livestock, especially in South Dakota.

Helicopters and airplanes, bulldozers and plows worked to relieve thousands stranded in what has been termed the Dakotas' worst such storm in decades.

Travelers who had taken refuge in stores, cafes, services stations, or homes continued their journeys.

Stories of human kindness and heroic effort came out of the chill, snow-swept land.

Like the North Dakota farm boy, Orin Auck, of rural Sterling, who scanned the whitened countryside and got worried when he didn't see smoke coming out of a neighbor's chimney.

The 12-year-old boy put on his coat and overshoes and trudged through deep snowdrifts to the farm of Lowell Brown, who lived alone. There, he found the 65-year-old farmer dead, his body draped over a windmill brace in the yard — a victim of the blizzard which lashed the Dakotas three days last week.

Vignettes like this were commonplace as rural and city folk alike fought for survival against the storm.

Six of the storm deaths occurred in South Dakota and five each in North Dakota and Minnesota.

There was a staggering loss in cattle and sheep — perhaps running in the millions of dollars.

Singletons Unhurt in 3-Car Wreck

Forrest Singleton, local Penney manager and Mrs. Singleton were involved in a three car accident Sunday night in Garland, Texas. No one was injured in the accident. The Singletons were en route to Colorado Springs for a company meeting.

The Star checked with Singleton this morning, learning that Forrest was stopped at an intersection waiting for another car to turn in front of him when the third car plowed into them from behind, damaging the truck, rear seat and lights.

The Singletons spent the night in Garland, had their car partially repaired this morning and continued on to Colorado Springs.

HHH's Pledges Issue in the War Hearings

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk may tell senators today whether Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's pledge of "all necessary assistance" to Southeast Asia countries involves fighting for them.

That is the bedrock issue behind a Senate Foreign Relations Committee's request for Rusk's reaction to a proposed amendment by Chairman J.W. Fulbright to a pending $415-million foreign aid authorization bill.

Fulbright has offered a rider saying that approval of the measure or the furnishing of economic and military assistance to any country cannot be construed as a commitment to defend those nations with American forces.

The Arkansas Democrat contends that the United States' involvement in the Viet Nam conflict had its beginnings with the furnishing of economic aid.

He warned Sunday that if the Viet Nam war becomes "open-ended" there is real danger of war with China and announced his committee will begin Tuesday a series of hearings "to increase our understanding of China."

At a point in the committee's request to Rusk is a communique issued at Bangkok during the course of the vice president's recent nine-nation tour of Asia and the Pacific which said:

"He (Humphrey) emphasized the determination of the United States to provide all necessary assistance to enable Thailand and the other countries of Southeast Asia threatened by Communist aggression to defend themselves and to achieve in peace their just economic and social aims."

Fulbright and some other committee members want to know if this means possible extension of the Viet Nam fighting to Thailand. They have been informed that the United States, which has a mammoth air base there, already has 20,000 or more troops in Thailand.

Rusk's reply may influence committee action on Fulbright's proposed rider, although the chairman already has said publicly he doubts the committee will approve it or a similar proposal made by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

McGovern has offered a rider that would make it clear passage of the aid bill involves no endorsement of Johnson's conduct of the Viet Nam war. But he said he will not press it in the Senate if the committee rejects it.

In his Red China policy statement, Fulbright said some U.S. experts believe Chinese leaders expect war with the United States within a year. He added that some Americans also expect such a conflict.
